CLAIM GOVERNMENT FAILFD

DETROIT, Feb. 27.-The afternoon tain its claim that the government had falled to establish a case against the remaining defendants-18 individuals and 12 corporations charged with conspiracy to restrain trade. The motions came after the government rested its case and immediately after the court, at the request of Edwin P Granvepor, special assistant to Attorney General Wickersham, had note prossed the cases against six defendants for lack of evidence.

The defense argued, in substance, that the patent license arrangement, under which, it is alleged, the so-called trust operated, was legal, that the defendants had no criminal intent to viniate the Sherman antitrust law, that the increase in prices was inconsequentink and that the public was haneribed kankers the defendants took defective goods off the market,

THE PRESIDENTIAL PRIZE

THE EVENING TELEGRAPH hows that it is imbued with the old lifea that 'public office is a private graft. In an editorial on the greatest mistake of Theodore Roosevelt's career" it says:

If Reserveir I ad her had this honor for soven #Bd c 'd' tous and to re merels an aspirant for a great testion there might to some or use for this little k upon his triend, but when he has successful the bighest plantable in the polyment world of this country to then grab for the prize again "ceris to be almost a grapultous insult

The Telegraph's Political Catechism (for private consumption) probably reads as fellows:

- What is the object of a political party
- A. To land prizes for the "faithful." Q. What is the Presidency
- A. The capital prize.

The Telegraph is not the only newspaper that has misunderstood the fight for Progressive principles to be one for prizes. For instance, the Nation, with a quivering voice, speaks of "the nomination of Mi, I Roosevelt over the bleeding corpse of President Tart." That paper and others attempt to discredit Progressive issues in one paragraph only to intimate in the following paragraph that there is no issue but one of prizes.

Every newspaper reader in the United States has probably read the tollowing quotation from once to a dozen times during the past week:

"Under no circumstances will I be a di candidate for or accept another nomina-

When Theodore Boosevelt 'untered these words on November 8, 1904, he had just been elected President for the first time. The announcement was made in order to let people know that he would not be a candidate for re-election at the end or the term for which he had just been elected. The statement was so mean' and so understood. It is ridiculous to believe that Theodore Roosevelt could, at that time, have been thinking of any time beyond the succeeding four-year term.

In the fall of 1907 when the question of the Republican candidacy came up Theodore Roosevelt said, in reference to his former statement:

"I have not changed and shall not change that decision thus announced."

That answer was given to the question, are you a candidate for re-election, Mr. President? When such a question is put can "re-election" reasonably mean anything but immediate re-election? It was so meant and so understood.

.The meaning of any statement must be obtained by interpreting it in the light of conditions at the time the statement was made. Any other course is to place the letter of the statement above the spirit. It is to quibble.

CONFITMATION OF GAMILE'S

The preceding analysis of the meaning of Rooses, INTER. RETATION. velt's state ments was written before he came out with the following explanation, which is identical with our interpretation:

"My position is perfectly simple," he said, "I stated it as clearly as I could in 1904 and reiterated in 1907. I said I would not accept a nomination for a third term under any circumstances, meaning, of course, a third consecutive

"I could not have said list at the time nor could I have said more. Of source I could not of businet a of blues said reflact. I . to ar and a nomination at some future time."

The reason against a third term is valid only when it refers to a third consecutive term. Theodore Roosevelt, as he should looks beyond the letter to the spirit:

"It must be clear to any reasonable man that the precedent which forbids the third term line ref_tence only to a third consecutive term giew has the fact that a president of the United States, under the present convention system of el stug filencies, can, if he knows how to use 'Mchinary at his Al 1+=1 reposting to him-

The question from a caps of all a Course at issue is . Is the Republican party to be a party of Progressive policies?

The Nation is very much worned over the situation which will confront the Republican parts it it nonminates Reosevelt. That paper maintain that the Chicago concentrate board to beart with prite. or the faft Aliministra's mane tyles, with lafaring anything anti-Pathian. It said

You what a tematform humanate at Chia rext Jone to not to report. Is the extain. that if who gave the edifficultation of Promodent Fort year has proceed. The R traffic in pairs could be all anothing else without shiftening

Here again we have the old my-partyright-or-wrong notion of a political particle The Nation does not see that one or the other parts is desimed to become the avowed parts of Progressism and that chances rayou the G. O. P. pather than the Bourbon Democracy as the party of PEHETESS.

At the time of the American Revolution the Fories were esteunded at the audacity and irrationality of the Revolutionists. Men who are breaking awas from out-worn traditions are never rational in the energy of the careful conservative who lives by precedent. The man of vesterday goes not understand the man of comorrow Progressives are enigmas to standpatters.

Our arm posts are unlike those of any other ation the world over in toat they represent a far arger couldy propositionately than any others. We ould not to reproduce field conditions, and have longthee torrotter the real meaning of the word barurban jarks more than anything else, and are the onder for visiting officers from abroad. Much of the lavisances, too is this to the quarters for the camb followers the family and the officers and the martied mer. Naturally, as Mr. Stimson points. out, the $10,000,000 expended on such posts he omes a potent argument against their abandonment. He muself hopes that some money can be recovered up careful real estate sales. Some of these posts, just as they stand, would be ideal for colleges, state or

Mary Lane was born Febtuary 28 1797 She was the child of very poor parents, and had to earn most of her own try schoolmarm, receiving as her first pay, 75 cents a week and board. In all her life the highest salary she ever received was $300 a year, and out of that she gave much towards her beloved project.

At that time higher education for women was as bitterly opposed, as woman suffrage now is. That a woman should study algebra, was considered as un-natural and unfeminine, as if is now that she should vote. Moreover, money for philanthropic objects was a great deal more difficult to get then than it is in these days of multimillionsires, who can found a college by signing a check. But Mary Lyon fought her way through every obstacle of prejudice and rying loses weight a assumption is to be thought of, I overty, and in 1836 founded Mt. Holyoke and be-

It is different, in story, scenes, novelties and music, and Lake this wonderful production will that is what makes it a dominating be seen. attraction wherever it is presented. In writing the book and lyrics, Messra. Adams and Mitchell happily avoided the beaten tracks of musical comedy, and evolved a story which, for originality of theme, places "Misa Nobody From Starland" in a class by itself. That popular writer of song hits, Joseph E. Howard followed suit, and presented the whiriwind revue Nobody From Starland," which will be seen here at the Opera house, Saturday evening next, March 2, is introduced to her admitters in the opening act on board the transatlantic liner.
